

Family KITAS C317

Purpose

The Family Spouse KITAS is an Indonesian residency permit tailored for foreign nationals married to Indonesian citizens. It grants these foreign spouses the right to live in Indonesia for a set period, typically one year, with the option for annual renewal.

Validity

If you are married to an Indonesian citizen, you can get a visa that allows a one-year stay. Every Family KITAS includes multiple entry privileges.

This means that during its valid period, the permit holder can travel in and out of Indonesia freely without needing to apply for a new visa each time.

Extension Possibility

This visa can be renewed four times, allowing a total stay of five years.

After holding this visa for three years, you can apply for a permanent residency permit (KITAP).
